

Jack Cassidy

Since 2012 Jack has worked at The Black-E supervising and monitoring young children, organising trips, attending meetings and running events. He attended an ‘Ubuntu’ workshop presented by Bishop Desmond Tutu in London, as part of the Black-E team, and spoke on behalf of The Black-E. Jack grew up in the local area. He holds national diplomas in media and business and has experience in the service and entertainment industries. He has worked in construction and has the practical skills of building work.
