

Sandra Quinn

Currently : A renewed interest in dance-based activity since 2000 has been combined with looking after her family and active involvement in Youth Arts at The Black-E.

Formerly: Sandra's early interest in performing arts resulted in extended training in dance and drama at The Princes Road Training Centre 1983 - 1987. Since having her first daughter in 1987, she completed studies in Liverpool at The Charles Wotton Centre and at the Octagon Centre (an Access Course in Social Work). Having completed the social work course, a move to Leicester led to work in hotels until 1996, when a return to work in Liverpool within the hotel and catering industry has given her more time to look after her family.
