

Sue Lancaster

Sue lectures in dance at Hope University and is also a freelance community dance teacher and choreographer, through both strands creating pathways to further and higher education for young people.

Her qualifications include a B.A. Honours in Community Dance, and she formerly co-founded and was Co-Director of The Princes Road Dance & Drama Project.

She specialises in Jazz Dance, carrying forward the tradition of her mentor Elroy Joseph, through workshops at The Black-E, The Greenhouse Multi-Cultural Play and Arts Project and city-wide.
